PLAIN AND FANCY BOOK AND JOB PRINTING

To "H. G. S."-Gazette of the 13th inst.

Another lay from thy tremendous lyre Would wake within my heart tumultuous fires, Make molten lava from my hot lips fly. Hlasing like flery dragon to the sea. Passion would stir my soul, till terrible The larid flames would play around my brow, And earth, in fright at my convulsive throes, Would shake herself, and plunge into the sea ; Again the glare of my rage-tortured eye Would tinge eve's sky with flame and dim the sun, As down my sides rushed scape-grace lava streams, Till the hot heat of my impassioned youth Would rise convulsive, n ocking at repose ! And my toy lightnings o'er the watchmen flash, On the horizon to the coming sail; My throcs would drown the feeble cannon's roar, And days of Jubilee be turned to wail; And burning clinkers o'er my molten slopes, Would glow o'er the charr'd herds that graze no more. Men should my correr feet, nor make a jest Of my red seetning floods, or awful name! And oh! strange orgies then! The wassail bowl-The awful cup high-poised around my brim Brimming with liquid jets of sulphury fire, Would pass from hand to hand as "creature rare," As gods or men poured down the burning draught, And memory, with all the Lethean dregs Skedaddled, dumb and surfeited. No more !

Awake no more thy lyre! But recollect That Spartacus, with all his servile host, Encamped among the vineyards, in the depths Of the dead cruter Vesuvius, Which soon rolled forth its fiery, scorching waves, O'erwhelming the fair cities at its base; So wake me not with lofty lyrie strain, Or I shall over Honolulu roll, Making a new Pompeii of its halis.

VARIETY.

"Smith's dead!" said Timkins. "No!" cried the amazed Phlunke, "what was the matter?" "Consumption," answered Timkins, F. H. ENDERS, M. D. " and, poor fellow, this will be the longest coffin spell he ever had."

Old, but good : A quaint minister once said, " Now, brethren, I propose to throw this hymnbook at the man who used profane language yesterday." He made the necessary gesture, as through he would hurl the book, and, curiously enough, every man in the congregation | trict of Makawao. ducked his head.

The humorist of the Detroit Free Press was NUUANU ST., near King, Importer and married a few months ago, and we are sorry to see paragraphs like this dropping from his Furnishing Goods, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hatz, Caps, &c., &c. pen: "California has eight hundred tons of honey to sell at close figures. There's cramps for all creation."

The children of General Stoneman, the ex- Walter Murray Gibson, Propr. Fred. H. Hayselden, Manager tensive California planter, have at least four kinds of fruit every day in the year. The General mentioned this fact to a correspondent HAS ON HAND A SUPERIOR ASSORTone day when he dropped into a drug store to order a puncheon of paregoric. ATTORNEY AND COUNSELOR AT LAW,

A learned sergeant was once accused of having disgraced the bar by taking silver from a client, the etiquette of the profession requiring that his fee should be paid in gold. "I took silver," he replied, " because I could not get gold; but I took every farthing the fellow had in the world, and I hope you do not call that disgracing the profession.

The Lyon county Times perpetrates this: A Carson Mint man tried the effect of blue glass on a link of bologna sausage yesterday. In five minutes it commenced to hump in the middle; in ten the word "Ma-ri-ar" was distinctly heard, and in fifteen the cat was himself again and out on the woodhouse roof, calling joyously for his old sweethearts.

The banishment of wine from the White House table recalls some piquant words of John Adams, written from Philadelphia in 1777 to his wife Abigail. "Gen. Washington," he says, " sets a fine example. He has banished wine from his table, and entertains his friends with rum and water. This is much to the honor of lies wisdom, his policy, and his patriotism."

In the light of a recent event the Boston Traveller says: "Better give the baby a rattle. He can get lots of fun out of a revolver, but it is apt to go off and hurt somebody. When you see the baby in the back yard with a revolver, and a reporter looking over the fence and whistling, 'I hear an angel calling,' it is as well to go out and take the weapon away from the in-

"A large heavy face, with thick bull neck, which his shirt collar seems compressing to suffocation; huge bushy mustache which spreads across both sides of the face almost to the ears, and which is dry and lusterless from hair dye; pale, grayish-blue, watery eyes; a thick little pug nose, turned up at the tip, and tinted hair, cropped close to the skull' this is not a Nevada reporter writing about a coming prize fighter, but a correspondent's des-cription of the King of Italy.

Wealth is a great burden, so we are informed. A million is a heavy load to carry. Yet it is an extremely rare incident for any one to voluntarily lay the burden down, or unload themselves, till death dumps it and them together in the grave. The Bible admonishes us to bear each others burdens. To illustrate our Christian charity, we now announce our willingness to relieve our overrich men of any part of their superabundant wealth when they strip themselves preparatory to an effort at the needle's eye.

Old Dr. Strong, of Hartford, whose name is still a praise in the churches, had an unfortunate habit of saying amusing things when he meant it not so. On one occasion he was presiding at a meeting of ministers, and wishing to call on one of them to come forward and offer prayer, he said :

" Brother Bolton, Of Colton, Will you step this way And pray?" To which Mr. Colton immeditately answered,

BREAKFAST.

BY A THOROUGH KNOWLEDGE OF the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected roces, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious are of such criticism of distributions of constitutions and the second constitution and the second use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle mal-dies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may excape many a tatal shaft by keeping curselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—See article in the Civil Service Gazette.
